The following is taken from the Carolina Spartan and is of interest to our readers as Miss Martha Dwight of the class of '99 was one of the editors of the Annual:

The Converse Annual, or "Y's and other Y's," as it is called, is just out. It is one of the prettiest and most attractive annuals that was ever gotten up by a southern college. No one has had a thing whatever to do with it but the students. There is not a single picture in it that was not drawn by a student; nor a single piece or poem that was not written by a student. Much credit is due to the editorial board for their untiring efforts in trying to make the Annual a success. Had it not been for them there would have been no annual. Too much cannot be said of the illustrations. Miss King, the art editor, has spared no trouble in trying to make the illustrations the main feature of the annual. Other artists that deserve special mention are Misses Means, Hydrick, Bomar, A. C. Coles and S. S. Coles.
